

SCANNED DOCUMENT

This document appears to be scanned from a physical paper.

The text extraction capabilities are limited because the content exists as image data rather than searchable text.

Key characteristics of scanned documents:

- Text is part of the image
- OCR is required for text extraction
- Quality depends on scan resolution
- May contain artifacts and noise

This simulation creates an image-based PDF that mimics the behavior of a real scanned document for testing purposes.